JASON VELINSKY
Director of Project
Management

“Owners often have a preference when it comes to their level of involvement in projects. Our tailored project management service allows owners the luxury of making decisions without having to gather multiple bids, vet contractors, monitor vendors and keep people on schedule.

Owners benefit from team collaboration and the knowledge of our brokers and property managers when working with project management.

Whether you are merely moving down the hall or completing a major build or remodel, project management will assure you are receiving fair vendor pricing from quality contractors.”
